Mid Century Modern Coastal

This mid-century modern home has taken the clean lines and lack of embellishment to match its locale. Built with its unique colour palette, contrasting shapes and materials this upside down design is one to behold. With a no-fuss side entry, overlapping silhouettes and well-proportioned layout this design pays homage to this curated style. An elongated deck leading to the alfresco will also allow soft scapes to complement its surrounds. All together with practicality and privacy of the bedrooms location this will definitely be a keeper for the future.
